

President Trump's America First Agenda Scores Major Supreme Court Win on TPS Termination

From The White house
Washington DC

The Supreme Court has delivered a major victory for American sovereignty, ruling that the Trump Administration has full authority to terminate Temporary Protected Status (TPS) for Haitian migrants. The Biden Administration weaponized TPS as a backdoor amnesty to flood the country with millions of unvetted migrants — and that loophole is finally closed.

This is the latest decisive win in President Donald J. Trump's relentless effort to end the border invasion and put American citizens first.
